President M. E. Ingalls, of the Big Four Railroad, is a distinguished Democrat, and he has the courage to speak his seniments right out in meeting. At the Jackson Club banquet, Monday night, at he is a fast writer he is sure of a good Lily Cream Toilet Soap Has No Superior. Columbus, at which a host of greater or salary. lesser Democrats were gathered, Mr. Ingalls took occasion to tell what he thinks of this administration, which he shamefully acknowledged he helped to call into power, and also the Wilson bill. He characterized the record of the Democratic party since coming into power as such as to cover Democrats with shame, Mackintoshes, such as to cover Democrats with shame, and the Wilson bill as a theoretical production of a West Virginia mountaineer. a measure that could not fail to bring of assiduous practice, and the field of day morning, the 3d inst., and the funeral took ruin on the great business interests of the country. The caustic points of his remarks are shown in the following conconcluding sentences: "In behalf of the great body of business men of the country I protest against experiments at this time. In behalf of the Democratic rank in the service since 1849. and file I protest against a measure which, if passed, will turn the country over to the Republicans. I wish I could reach every Democrat in the land to arouse them to action so that they would make their objections felt with their Congressmen. It is a time of peril to the party. I would sound the alarm, 'To your tents, O Israel.' Unless we can bring about a change in the administration, unless we can stop that so called Wilson bill in Congress, we shall go down as a party to helpless defeat on the next election, and it will be years before the people will trust us again. We want club is a "classroom," where the mem-Congress to stop experimenting for the benefit of a few theorists and scholars."

It seems like a poor sort of economy the Commissioners are practising in persisting in maintaining the gasoline lighting plant at the Court-house. Not only running properly, but to keep the tank from leaking has been proven by experience to be well nigh impossible. Did the leakage result only in loss to the county it would be bad enough, but when the gasoline taints the water in adjacent wells and renders it unfit for use the plant becomes a nuisance. The Commissioners have certainly had sufficient notice of the damage the gasoline leakage is doing to surrounding property to make them liable, personally, and if the nuisance is continued if not improbable that they may be made defendants in damage suits. Under the conditions of the injunction issued last spring the plant was to be operated only so long as it could be operated without leakage, but the recent repairs, which were needful, have demonstrated that it can not long be operated without leaking, if at all, and the restraining order on its operation | sned by the bureau in 1884, in which it should be made perpetual. In addition, result which would land a portion of the consideration an army probably equaltown in the next township, if the plant ly large who receive instruction from is operated as it has been. The whole some other source or from professional thing should be abandoned in the interest of life and property, and economy, too.

Who is the author of the Wilson Bill and what is he doing? M. E. Ingalis, a good Democrat, announced these questions at the Jackson banquet, a Demoeratic gathering, at Columbus Monday man, Marcus Tullius Tiro, his friend, night. He said: "The gentleman who fathers the measure, whose name is given to it, is a distinguished member of Congress, coming from a little village up in the mountains of the State of West Virginia. He has had a large experience as a college professor and as a country lawyer and as a member of Congress. He is a student of the doctrine of free trade and well educated as a theorist. By some chance he is made Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, and is put astride of the commerce of this country and proposes to demonstrate his theories, although in so doing he may wreck the country and his party."

If the Democrats are going to inflict an income tax on the country from which | that the number of characters grue to they expect to derive revenue, it seems strange they should couple it with a or that the men gaue it over for tediousmeasure the effect of which will be to stifle the sources of income. The Democrats would seem to have a spite at pros perity for not only are they going to make it as difficult as possible to have an income at all, but in addition to that, if any man is so fortunate as to still be able to mains at this day. derive an income of more than $4,000 they are going to make him pay a fine of two per cent. because he has been in-

In the larger cities the relief work has taken the form of furnishing work and not alms for the unemployed. If the able bodied do not choose to work they get nothing. This is the only proper way to afford relief, and at the same time is scarcely a charity to the persons accepting relief, as they render a hundred cents worth of labor for every dollar received. The cities are at the same time benefitted since the work in most cases is along the line of improving or beautifying the city.

The subsidizing of the press by Presifew editors to office was a great outrage the dog had known his master's destinadent Harrison in the appointment of a in the eyes of some of our local Democratic editors. But now that some of overland to Arbroath.
